

THE CALIFORNIA LICENSED CONTRACTOR

FALL 1986

AMNESTY PROGRAM FOR UNLICENSED CONTRACTORS BEGINS 1987

On August 26, 1986, the Governor signed SB 2389 (Doolittle), which will create a one year amnesty program for nonlicensed contractors to become licensed.

Presently, the CSLB accepts documented self-employed (nonlicensee) experience to qualify for a contractors license and the applicant is admitted to an examination which he/she must pass to obtain a license.

However, under the amnesty legislation, nonlicensed experience gained prior to January 1, 1987, can be used to qualify for a license during the amnesty period January 1, 1987-January 1, 1988. After January 1, 1988, this experience will not be accepted to qualify for a license. Applicants must have four years of (documented) experience in the trade for which they are applying, within the last ten years.

Also under current law, it is a misdemeanor for a person to perform contractor related work costing over $200 (including labor and materials) without a contractors license and subject to a civil penalty in the range of $50-$3,000. Effective January 1, 1988, the civil penalty increases to $1,500-4,500.

There are presently 200,000 licensed contractors (individuals, partnerships and corporations) in California. The Board licenses 16,000 contractors out of the 20,000 applicants received annually. It is estimated that 46,000 individuals will apply during the amnesty period.

Nonlicensed individuals who have evaded the expense of conducting business by avoiding licensure, state taxes, workers compensation and unemployment insurance have created an unfair competitive edge over legally licensed contractors in this state. It is our intent and hope that this amnesty period will bring those nonlicensees into compliance with California state laws and create an atmosphere of fair competition among the licensed contractors of this state.

Application for licensure are available at any of the boards 14 district offices located throughout the state.

ASBESTOS CERTIFICATION

All licensed contractors that engage in asbestos related work which involves 100 square feet or more are required to take the asbestos open-book exam and take the Asbestos Certification Exam (this is not the open-book exam). The CSLB has administered the asbestos certification exam for the last seven months. Applications and study guides for the Asbestos Certification Examination may be requested by writing to CSLB, P.O. Box 26000, Sacramento, CA 95826. Information and questions may be directed to (916) 366-5153.

Contractors handling asbestos must also contact Cal-OSHA and follow certain safety procedures.

ALL LICENSED CONTRACTORS MUST TAKE ASBESTOS OPEN-BOOK EXAM

Whether or not you handle asbestos, as a licensed contractor, you will be required to take an open-book exam on asbestos effective January 1, 1987. This requirement is part of Assembly Bill 2040, the asbestos legislation that became law this year. Essentially, the law says that all licensed contractors will be required to take an open-book exam concerning asbestos related work upon application or license renewal.

All licensees and applicants for a contractor's license shall complete and sign the open-book exam and submit it to the CSLB with the required renewal or application forms. The CSLB has developed this open-book examination which contains a wealth of valuable facts about asbestos detection, removal and health hazards. The exam contains a tear-off answer sheet which the applicant returns to the board with the necessary renewal or original application forms. The first batch of open-book exams will be mailed about mid-December 1986 to contractors whose licenses expire on JANUARY 31, 1987. Applicants who fail to return the exam answer form will be denied renewal or licensure. That is, licensees and applicants will no longer be licensed or allowed to renew licenses in California without taking the asbestos open-book exam.

Again, the law becomes effective on January 1, 1987. If you have recently moved or believe that the Board does not have your current address, you should immediately notify the board in writing.

TO THE INDUSTRY: CONTRACTORS BOARD SEEKS LICENSED CONTRACTORS

Over the last two years, the construction industry has been enjoying the benefits of an improved economy. This has meant more building, more remodeling, but unfortunately, more consumer complaints.

Since the Contractors Board has not had any significant increase in staffing, which has increased the case backlog, the Board proposed a concept where the licensed contractors of the state can help to investigate cases. The "Industry Expert Program" was approved by the Legislature and Governor for a one-year term (July 1, 1986 through June 30, 1987).

How does the program work?

When the Board receives a complaint alleging poor workmanship, it will be referred to a licensed contractor with the most appropriate trade expertise, who will inspect the project. The contractor will have one or two tasks: (1) determine if the project was completed to industry standards; and (2) if the project does not meet industry standards, the contractor would estimate how much it would cost to correct. The contractor puts his/her findings in a written report which is given to the field office. The field office completes the rest of the investigation and, if necessary, takes action against the contractor responsible for the poor work.

The Board pays a standard fee and certain expenses for each inspection. If you are a licensed contractor and are interested in this program, please call your local office of the Contractors State License Board and request an application for participation in the INDUSTRY EXPERT PROGRAM.

The Board seeks all licensed contractors to participate: retired, active, women, men and minorities. As of September, nearly 450 contractors are participating. Overall, the program has been well received by industry and consumers alike.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY

by Shelby Cecchetti
Legislative Liaison

Numerous bills affecting contractors in the state were introduced during the 1985-86 regular legislative session. Among these bills having substantial impact on CSLB and its constituents are the following:

AB 2993 LAW IMPOSES UP TO $50,000 BOND ON CONTRACTORS WHO FAIL TO PAY CONTRACTORS OR SUBS

This bill, which was authored by Assemblyman Richard Mountjoy was sponsored by the Association of Builders and Contractors, and requires the CSLB to impose a bond of increased value upon an applicant or licensee who failed or refused to pay a contractor, subcontractor, employee or consumer based on a recorded and unsatisfied judgment from a court of law or an unsatisfied arbitration award in the past five years. The bond amount will be five times the judgment amount, but not to exceed $50,000. This bill becomes effective July 1, 1987. Chapter 1391, Statutes of 1986.

AB 3060 FEDERAL EMPLOYER I.D. NUMBER REQUIRED ON CORPORATE AND INDIVIDUAL APPLICATIONS, RENEWALS.

This bill, authored by Assemblyman Tom Hannigan, requires every board, as defined under the Business and Professions Code, including the State Bar, the Department of Real Estate and the Insurance Commissioner, to require that any licensee, other than a corporation, at the time of issuance or renewal of a license provide its federal employer identification number (if the licensee is a partnership) or his or her social security number (for all others). This bill also requires boards to report certain information, upon request, to the Franchise Tax Board regarding the licensee and the license. The bill becomes effective January 1, 1987. Chapter 1361, Statutes of 1986.

SB 1172 GRANTS FOR CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT COURSES, VETOED

Senator Seymour's bill, which would authorize the CSLB to award grants, in a total amount not to exceed $1.5 million if the surplus in the Contractors License Fund exceeds $5 million, to educational institutions for the support of courses of study in construction management, was vetoed. In addition to the provision above, the bill included an appropriation of $926,000 for 22 deputy registrar of contractor positions to enforce Contractors License Law. This bill was vetoed by the Governor.

SB 1314 LEGAL REPRESENTATION FOR CONTRACTOR INDUSTRY EXPERTS

This bill, SB 1314, by Senator Paul Carpenter, provides that the Attorney General shall represent persons who have supplied expertise to the boards in the evaluation of work performed by licensed contractors, and who are subsequently sued for their opinions or statements. The CSLB co-sponsored this bill with the Department of Consumer Affairs because of the expansion of the Industry Expert program which is being instituted statewide. Provisions become effective January 1, 1987. Chapter 1205, Statutes of 1986.

SB 1647 STATE AGENCIES MUST VERIFY LICENSE CLASS OF CONTRACTORS BEFORE LETTING CONTRACTS.

Senator Robbins initiated this legislation, which requires any state agency or department which is subject to the Public Contract Code to verify that any person seeking a contract with that agency or department is licensed in a classification appropriate to the work to be undertaken prior to awarding the contract to that person. The bill takes effect January 1, 1986. Chapter 1230, Statutes of 1986.

In our last issue of the California Licensed Contractor, we mentioned Senator Montoya's bill, SB 1650, which would provide that a violation of license law advertising provisions is subject to increased fines in addition to any other punishment for the violation. That bill was signed by the Governor July 24, and becomes effective January 1, 1987. The bill also authorizes the CSLB to include an order to disconnect the telephone number displayed in an ad placed by an unlicensed contractor in a telephone corporation's classified directory. If that order is not complied with, the CSLB may direct the Public Utilities Commission to order the telephone corporation to disconnect the phone number listed in the advertisement.

SB 1869 CONTRACTOR LICENSE REQUIRED FOR WORK COSTING $300 OR MORE (RAISED FROM $200)

Also signed by the Governor and effective January 1, 1987, (Chapter 293, Statutes of 1986) is Senator Vuich's bill, SB 1869, which will raise the minor work exemption from $200 to $300. In other words, construction projects for which the aggregate cost for labor and materials is less than $300 shall be exempt from the license requirement.

SB 1406 PROFESSIONAL HOME INSPECTORS

In 1985 Senator Nicholas Petris authored a bill, which, effective January 1, 1987, will require certain real estate disclosures when property is transferred. Because that bill will increase the demand by home sellers for professional home inspectors, Senator Petris introduced SB 2026, which appropriated $25,000 to the CSLB for the purpose of conducting a study to determine whether home inspectors should be certified by a written examination and home inspections defined by statute. The CSLB is required to report back to the legislature on its findings by January 1, 1987.

SB 2180 EXEMPTIONS FOR MANUFACTURED HOUSING OR MOBILEHOME DEALERS

This bill by Senator Royce, exempts mobilehome dealers who hold a retail dealer's license from the contractor's license requirement if the contract for sale and installation includes the name, address and license number of the contractor who will install the home for the purchaser. This bill becomes effective January 1, 1987. Chapter 841, Statutes of 1986.

SB 2389 AMNESTY PERIOD FOR UNLICENSED CONTRACTORS

This bill by Senator John Doolittle, requires the registrar to issue citations against unlicensed contractors and to discontinue accepting unlicensed or self-employed experience for after a one-year "amnesty" period, which would be from January 1, 1987 through December 31, 1987. And, although this experience could be submitted through 1987, no experience which was gained after December 31, 1986 will be acceptable. After this amnesty period, beginning January 1, 1988, the civil penalties for unlicensed activity would increase to a range from $1,500 to $4,500. This becomes effective January 1, 1987. Chapter 995, Statutes of 1986.

SB 2572 ASBESTOS CERTIFICATION EXEMPTIONS

This legislation by Senator Milton Marks, which became effective October 1, 1986 (Chapter 1451, Statutes of 1986) provides clean-up to last year's AB 2040 by Assemblyman Gray Davis, which instituted certification for asbestos abatement. In addition to other provisions, SB 2572 specifically excludes contractors involved with the installation, maintenance and repair of asbestos cement pipe or sheets, vinyl asbestos floor materials, or asbestos bituminous or resinous materials from the asbestos certification requirement.

NEW METAL ROOFING CLASSIFICATION

At its July meeting, the Board adopted a new specialty license classification, C-14, for metal roofing installations and repairs. The new classification defines a metal roofing contractor as one who installs and repairs metal roofing systems which prevent water and weather from entering the structure through the roofing system. The classification excludes the work of a roofing contractor (C-39) for installation of non-metal roofing systems, the work of a sheet metal contractor (C-43) for installation of sheet metal and the work of a structural steel contractor (C-51) for the installation of structural steel member.

The C-14 classification must be reviewed and approved by the Department of Consumer Affairs and the Office of Administrative Law, and filed with the Secretary of State before it can be implemented. The Board also has requested funding to develop an examination for this classification. When the classification and the funding are approved, an exam will be developed and the C-14 class will be implemented. At that time, contractors who install metal roofs will be required to obtain the C-14 classification. Implementation should occur in 1988.

This classification was developed through the cooperative efforts of the roofing and sheet metal industries.

Notice to California Insulation Contractors

The Bureau of Home Furnishings administers the law under which foil insulation manufacturers are licensed. The products of these manufacturers are required to meet certain flame spread standards.

In 1984 the California Energy Commission determined that the foil insulation products of The Insulation Manufacturing Company (TIMCO) designated ML-6 and ML6-NM did not meet the flame spread standards (California State Energy Conservation and Development Commission, Docket No. 83-IQE-2, May 3, 1984).

The Commission recommended, among other things, that the owners of installed TIMCO ML-6 and ML6-NM be given an opportunity to have the installed product tested and, upon failure, to have the product recalled and the owner reimbursed. While ML6-NM was recertified in 1984 following new tests, subsequent tests in 1985 of samples from the marketplace again show some failure to meet the flame spread standards.

The Bureau is contacting persons that may have purchased TIMCO ML-6 and ML6-NM since 1982. The Bureau wants to identify owners and locations where these products were distributed and/or installed. If you have such information, please write to Bureau of Home Furnishings, Insulation Program, 3486 Orange Grove Avenue, North Highlands, CA 95660, Attn: Ray Hillier. Questions may be directed to Mr. Hillier at (916) 920-7006. The inquiry of the bureau is limited to products manufactured prior to January 1, 1985.

License Law and Reference Book For Contractors

As licensed contractors, you know that there are many laws that regulate the industry. A valuable source that every licensed contractor should have is the License Law and Reference Book. This 671 page book contains the Contractors License Law, general provisions of the Business and Professions Code, pertinent sections of the Code of Civil Procedure, Labor Code, the Health and Safety Code, Cal/OSHA, business management for contractors, and additional laws governing building contractors.

The book may be purchased for $7.05 from the Department of General Services, Publications Section, P.O. Box 1015, North Highlands, CA 95660. The price includes tax, postage and handling. Uncooperative Contractor Cited, Fined

The Board recently investigated an applicant for licensure to verify his experience as a contractor. The Board contacted the licensee who signed the certificate of experience, but the licensee responded that he did not have time to cooperate. Following several attempts to meet with the licensee, he provided some records, but they were ambiguous and did not substantiate the statements signed by him.

Under Section 7115(b) of the Business and Professions Code, a licensee is obligated to cooperate and is subject to disciplinary action if he/she refuses (see the Business and Professions Code or page 132 of the License Law and Reference Book).

In this case, the licensee was issued a citation charging him with violating 7111, 7115(b), and 7114.1 of the Business and Professions Code. The licensee appealed the citation, but the judge concurred with the Board and fined him $800. (The maximum fine that can be assessed is $2,000 and could lead to revocation.)

The Board often investigates applications to verify experience or other information provided on the application. The Board's deputy registrars must rely on the licensed contractor to verify facts and information. If you are contacted by a deputy registrar, please help him or her, as it's one way we can maintain quality and professionalism in the industry.

DETERMINING LOST PROFITS

Sam K. Abdulaziz, Attorney at Law

If an owner throws the contractor off the job, is the contractor entitled to the full contract value?

A contractor who is thrown off a job, through no fault of his or her own, is entitled to all the costs incurred (and not yet paid) as well as the profits that the contractor would have made had the contract been completed. But this is easier said than proven.

Disputes are common in the construction industry. The disputes may range from the amount to charge for an extra to the owner's total dissatisfaction with the construction and workmanship. Disputes also may arise between different parties. For example, the owner may not be satisfied with the work done by the subcontractor and therefore blame the general contractor, the owner may not be satisfied with the job done by the general contractor, or the general contractor and subcontractors may have not agreed among themselves about the job to be done or the payments, etc. Because there are usually so many parties involved in the construction process, there is a greater chance that some disagreements will surface. Some disputes are minor and may be resolved among the parties themselves or end in total breach.

One example of total breach occurs where the owner prohibits the contractor from completing the job. When this occurs, the contractor is entitled to his/her expenses to date as well as lost profits. However, for the contractor to be entitled to damages and lost profits the contractor must not be in breach; the breach must be the fault of the owner. To recover lost profits, the contractor must show, with a reasonable degree of certainty, that the contractor will lose a certain amount of money because of the owner's actions. The amount of lost profits to which the contractor is entitled need not be exact to the penny, as long as the profits would have been obtained by the contractor had the job been completed.

MEASURE OF DAMAGES

Lost profits are defined as the difference between the amount it would cost to finish the project and the contract price. As an example, say the only thing left to be completed is the bathroom. It would cost $5,000 to complete, the contract price is $100,000 and $90,000 has been used to complete the rest of the house or project. The lost profits to which the contractor may be entitled is $5,000. It is important to remember that the measure of lost profits is not the amount left to be paid on the contract, but only what is left to be paid as profit.

Other considerations may reduce the amount of lost profits a contractor may be awarded. For example, would the contractor have made money or lost money if the job was completed? Just because, as in the above example, the contractor would be entitled to $5,000 in profits does not mean that he/she will be automatically awarded that sum in lost profits. Other considerations, such as reasonable expenses and other costs which might be incurred in completing the project, and the contract, will be considered. So, while the $5,000 amount may be a starting point for determining lost profits, a court actually may lower that figure.

Another consideration, with regard to damages in a breach of construction agreement, is whether the amount of work left to complete the project is such a small amount that the contract is substantially complete. In such a case, the law allows the contractor to treat the contract as finished and collect the unpaid contract price. There may very well be a dispute, however, as to whether or not the contract is as complete as the contractor says.

Conclusion

The law provides a remedy for contractors when their construction agreements are breached. The contractor is entitled to expenses not yet paid for as well as lost profits. The remedy is referred to as allowing the contractor to "recover the benefit of the bargain." But, regardless of the law providing such a remedy, the amount of lost profits may be costly to determine and the amount awarded by a court may even be lower than expected. In addition, the owner will probably dispute your claim and attempt to deny it.

SB 2575 HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES REMOVAL AND REMEDIAL ACTIONS

Another bill which was modeled on AB 2040, is SB 2575, by Senator Dan McCorquodale. As originally introduced, SB 2575 would have required contractors engaged in work to remedy or remove hazardous substances to be certified by examination given by the CSLB. However, as chaptered, the bill requires the certification by examination only for those contractors involved in hazardous substance removal at sites listed as hazardous waste sites by the Department of Health Services or a site listed on the National Priorities list pursuant to the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980. of (Chapter 1443, Statutes of 1986). The certification is required on and after May 1, 1988.

AB 2421 REQUIREMENT FOR BONDS FILED AFTER 90 DAYS OF EFFECTIVE DATE

AB 2421, as it pertains to bonding, states that a bond (Contractor's Bond of Qualifying Individual and Disciplinary) must be received by the registrar within 90 days of the effective date of the bond in order to be acceptable.

In order for a bond to be accepted after this 90 day period, the licensee must show, on a form acceptable to the registrar, that the failure to file the bond was due to circumstances beyond his/her control.
